To-day the glory of conquest is becoming badly scattered. Cleveland is still the main baseball center, a defending champion holding its own. Philadelphia lays intimate claim to Bill Tilden, the leading tennis impresario of the day.

Chicago offers three rousing cheers for Jock Hutchison, British open champion, and "Chick" Evans, American amateur golf title holder.

New York and immediate vicinity is the habitat of the victorious Polo Four, who were able to win by one of the largest margins in in-

Los Angeles (are we right?) claims Charlle Paddock, the fastest human being that ever rambled on a brace of legs. Atlanta still points to the eminence of Alexa Stirling, unbeaten on this side of the Atlantic. Baltimore offers "Babe" Ruth in ringing rebuttal as the world's most eminent Propeller of Pellets over Palings. And so it goes. The development of champions is now a nationwide affair, embracing most of the charted sectors, with no one sector on top of the heap. Which is just as it should be.

There was a day in baseball when a good outfielder was supposed to chuck out a man at the plate trying to score from third on an outfield

Now it takes a combination of "Red" Murray and "Dobe" Birming-the relay in as far as third base. And this doesn't include the evergrowing fusilades that drift over the fence into another county.

U. S. Polo Captain And Star Player Are Back With Cup

CAPTAIN DEVEREUX MILBURN and Louis Stoddard, members of the victorious American polo team that won the International Polo Cup from the British at Hurlingham, arrived here yesterday with the trophy on board the White Star liner Olympic.

Star liner Olympic.

Both were high in their praise of British sportsmanship and the prowess of their opponents.

"It was no child's play," said Stoddard. "They gave us a battle for every point, and it was a hard fight. We were treated in the most sportsmanlike manner by the English, and there was not a regretable incident connected with the series from the time the American ponies arrived in England until we departed with the cup."

Milburn, who played back on the

Olympic Games for 1924 Causing Rumpus

DARIS, July 13.—A deadlock has arisen over the selection of a location for the 1924 Olympic games, which were awarded to Paris. The Municipal Council this afternoon adopted a recommendation made by a sub-committee yesterday designating Pershing Stadium as the field for the games. The executive committee for the eighth Olympic games informed the Municipal Council that this decision was absolutely unacceptable.

The committee announced that it would decide at its next meeting whether it would continue organization of the games if Pershing Stadium, which lacks many indispensable features, is forced upon it.

The matter may be referred to Gaston Vidal, Under Secretary of State for Physical Education and Sports, for settlement. DARIS, July 13.-A deadlock has 1920, and this, combined with two trips to Europe and the journey to Australasia, makes it obvious that he needs a rest. For this reason he will probably be forced to decline many requests for exhibition and tournament matches that he has already received.
